

This summer, students should read at least one book of their choice, and be prepared to create a one page review at the start of the school year.